

A true story

April 2009

The “fable” that you can find a pot of gold at the end of the rainbow is no fable. In fact it’s true. I know because it happened to me. Most people have just been looking at the wrong time. It’s best to go in search of your fortune on a clear night when there is a full moon, and the best place to find a rainbow at night is on the Dark Continent of Africa at Victoria Falls. When I was there last April, I met a man surrounded by piles of money. I saw an interesting note and asked if I could have it. He nodded yes.

This was real money when I picked it up on a Thursday (perhaps worth 5 cents or 5 dollars US). The following Sunday Mugabe declared they would no longer accept Zimbabwe currency as they switched to US dollars or any other foreign currency. They just couldn’t deal with 230 million percent inflation I guess.

Tom Trowbridge

Moonbow pictures at http://tomtrowbridge.com/2009/04_Zambia/EhLunarRainbow.htm